WORST BREAD SHORTAGE TO EASE UP SOON

NEW SPRING WHEAT CROP STARTING TO COME IN

Chicago, June 4 (AP)—The nation has struck "bottom" in the current domestic flour shortage, the Millers National Federation said today, and a gradual easing of the critical bread shortage may start in two or three weeks.

There were two signs the nation's worst bread shortage soon will be on the wane. They were:

1—The new winter wheat crop, which has started coming in in Texas and Oklahoma, is running 25 per cent above pre-harvest expectations.

2—The department of agriculture drafted a plan for dipping into foreign relief wheat stocks to relieve conditions in the most acute bread shortage areas in the country.

Mills Shut Down

Herman Steen, executive secretary of the Millers National Federation, said "this is the worst week the millers will have." Between 80 and 90 per cent of the nation's flour mills will shut down because of lack of wheat to grind into flour, he said.

PLENTY OF CAKE

New York, June 4 (AP)—Virtually no bread—but plenty of cake—was on the shelves of New York City's food stores today.

"OPA has no authority to direct bakers to bake bread instead of cake," said an OPA official, adding that bread prices were frozen in 1942, but cake ceilings were recalculated every six months—thus allowing more profit.

He added, however, that the winter wheat harvest started in the southwest in mid-May with excellent yields. He predicted the acute shortage would be considerably relieved by mid-to late July as more of the new crop reaches the mills.

The wheat harvest will run into September, moving gradually northward, with the grain being made available to the mills as it is harvested.

However, Steen said he saw no immediate boost in bread output, even if the government's plan for lending foreign-consigned wheat to mills "proves workable."

Bakeries Use Reserves

He said "government red tape," shipping the grain on elevators to the mills, getting the right "blend" for bread flour and delivering the flour to the bakers, would require a time lag of two or more weeks.

Under the government "loan" plan, a domestic mill qualifying for such wheat could get only one-half of its June allotment for domestic sale. Under a previous department order, domestic mills this month are allowed to distribute only 75 per cent as much flour as the monthly average of 1945.

Although the prospect of relief was in sight, scarcely any city was without a bread shortage. With new supplies cut off or reduced to a trickle, sources in the baking industry said, most bakeries have had to dip into their own dwindling flour reserves for their current output.

The Food Distributors Association of Illinois said bread was "disappearing by noon" in bakeries and stores in Chicago and other Illinois cities.

Senate Bill Mixes Up Future Of OPA

Washington, June 4 (AP)—The future form of OPA became more uncertain today as a sharply-divided senate banking committee progressed slowly on a bill extending the agency's life beyond June 30.

A tie 8-to-8 vote blocked an amendment by Senator Taft (R-Ohio) which had solid Republican backing. It would have forbidden OPA to establish ceilings which failed to reflect to manufacturers and processors their price during the base period Oct. 1-15, 1941, plus the weighted average unit cost increase within their industry since then.

Chairman Wagner (D-Ny) at first announced that the amendment had carried, 9 to 8. Taft corrected him, explaining that a Democrat whom he did not name had voted for it but had withdrawn his vote.

The bill which came over from the house still carries the Wolcott amendment which provides that each producer, processor and distributor shall receive current cost plus "a reasonable profit." Taft said that if the 8-to-8 vote showed the true division of sentiment within the committee, the Wolcott amendment could not be removed. Since the death of Carter Glass the committee only has 19 members, and one of them, Senator Bankhead (D-Ala) is critically ill in a hospital.

All hope of getting the bill out of committee today was abandoned after the impasse on price margins. Majority leader Barkley, a member of the committee, said he didn't see how it could be called up in the Senate before next week.

The committee rejected amendments proposed by Senator Capehart (R-Ind) which would have provided wholesalers, retailers and service industries the same margin of profit they enjoyed before the war.

In the one positive accomplishment of the session, the committee adopted, 11 to 4, an amendment by Senator Fulbright (D-Ark) providing that historical prewar discounts must be respected by OPA in setting prices in industries where the discount system rather than the markup plan is the regular procedure.

Taft said the Fulbright amendment particularly affects the automobile, farm implement and refrigerator trades.

The Republican spokesmen also said the committee seemed to be in general agreement on a proposal by Senator Tobey (R-NH) affecting the price of restaurant meals. Under present OPA regulations, a restaurant whose top meal formerly sold for $1 cannot offer one above that price even if the meal is superior. The Tobey amendment would remove that bar.

REPUBLIC LEADS 2 TO 1 IN ITALY

Christian Democratic Party Has Margin Of 2,000,000 Votes

BY GEORGE BRIA

Rome, June 4 (AP)—The middle-of-the-road Christian Democratic party rolled up a commanding lead of more than 2,000,000 votes over each of its two nearest rivals—the Communists and Socialists—tonight, a tabulation of two-thirds of the ballots cast for an Italian constituent assembly showed.

The figures on the voting last Sunday were announced by the ministry of the interior which said that no official results on the monetary-republic referendum would be made before tomorrow.

Vice Premier Pietro Nenni, a Socialist, said an early semi-official count of more than 2,350,000 referendum votes showed proponents of a republic in Italy leading two-to-one over voters favoring retention of the monarchy.

Tabulation of the vote for the constituent assembly, the body which will write a new Italian constitution, showed that Premier Alcide De Gasperi's Christian Democrats polled 5,850,000 of 16,650,000 votes cast in 25,000 of 35,000 balloting districts.

The Socialists and Communists were racing each other for second place. The Socialists had received 3,600,000 votes while the Communists had a vote total of 3,400,000.

Trailer With Steel Passes Over Woman; No Serious Injuries

Detroit, June 4 (AP)—A heavy trailer loaded with more than a ton of steel passed over a 23-year-old woman's body from head to foot but she lived to tell about it and even escaped serious injury.

The accident occurred as Miss Catherine Kudzin stepped backwards from a safety zone into the path of the truck. She fell beneath the wheels.

She was treated at Receiving hospital where physicians said no serious injury could be found.

New Resort Liquor License Is Denied In Nahma Township

Lansing, June 4 (AP)—The state liquor control commission today denied a request by Martin E. Ericson of Nahma township, Delta county, for a new resort class "C" liquor license and asked the township board to recommend which of two tavern licenses should be transferred to a class "C."

Two tavern licenses have been issued in the township, the commission said, and the township board has been advised consideration would be given to a transfer of one to a class "C."

CLOSED FORD PLANTS WILL OPEN JUNE 24

FIRM NOW LOSING MONEY ON EVERY CAR IT MAKES

BY DAVID J. WILKIE
Associated Press Automotive Editor

Detroit, June 4 (AP)—Henry Ford II, president of the Ford Motor Co., disclosed today that his company will construct a $50,000,000 research and engineering center in nearby Dearborn and at the same time announced plans to reopen all the Ford assembly plants throughout the country on June 24.

The 14 assembly plants have been closed since May 8 because of a parts and materials shortage, idling 110,000 production workers.

In announcing plans for the new research and engineering center, to be located in nearby Dearborn, not far from the present Ford engineering laboratory, the youthful head of the Ford empire said it was designed primarily to aid in the making of "more and better motor cars at prices that more and more people can afford."

Job To Take 8 Years

The project, consisting of eight primary buildings, will be grouped around an artificial lake 800 feet long and 350 feet wide on a 500-acre site, Ford said construction will start "as soon as regulations permit," and that eight years will be required to complete the undertaking.

Asserting that the company is losing money on every car it makes, Ford said there is no immediate prospect of reaching the "break even" point in manufacturing operations without "greater labor productivity, more equitable car prices and steadier assembly plant operations."

The Ford company which began postwar assembly work last July 3 has been forced to close down more than half a dozen times because of parts and materials shortages.

Ford said that as of last January labor productivity had been "about 34 per cent below the 1941 level," and that there had been only a minor increase since then. He pointed out that materials costs had increased approximately 30 per cent since 1941.

New Models In 1947

He declined to speculate on the probable volume of car output this year, but said that but for the shortage of materials and parts and frequent production interruptions the company currently would be turning out 5,400 units a day instead of the present rate of around 3,300.

Plant shutdowns like the present one, Ford said, cost the company approximately $500,000 a day.

The youthful Ford executive said there had been no change in the company's plan to introduce its 1947 model some time next year. He said he was unable to give a definite introduction date or the probable price of the company's projected new lower priced, light weight car, previously announced for probable 1947 production.

Jack R. Davis, vice-president in charge of sales and advertising, told newsmen at the same conference that Ford dealers now have 1,150,000 unfilled orders on hand. About 65 per cent of these, Davis said, were more than six months old.

He said the latest surveys he had made indicated the possible production of 4,700,000 cars and trucks in 1947 and 6,000,000 in 1948.

Socialist Believed In Line To Head French Government

Paris, June 4 (AP)—France's three major political parties maintained silence tonight on the question of who will head the new government, but impartial observers believed a Socialist would be chosen.

There appeared little likelihood that the victorious popular Republican movement party (MRP), which emerged from Sunday's election as France's strongest, would insist upon the presidency for Foreign Minister Georges Bidault.

Neither the MRP, the Socialists nor the Communists have come out affirmatively with a claim for the presidency of the provisional government, which will rule France until a constitution for the fourth republic has been accepted by the people.

The assembly will meet Tuesday, and on the following day is expected to elect its own officers before setting down to negotiations over the choice of a president, who will be elected by a simple majority vote of the assembly.

ARMY AND NAVY MERGER PUSHED

President Promises To Patch Up Differences On Unification

Washington, June 4 (AP)—President Truman notified the Army and Navy today that he will resolve the differences between them on unification.

This was reported by White House Press Secretary Charles G. Ross who said the president had "a very constructive session" with the secretaries of War and Navy and other top officers.

"The points of difference were taken under advisement by the president who will render his decision upon them," Ross told reporters.

Ross added that all the points of disagreement were "thoroughly discussed by both sides" and were then taken under advisement by the president.

Ross could not be specific as to the form the president's decision might take, nor could he say whether it would go to Congress in the form of a new bill.

In addition to the Navy and Army secretaries, those participating in the conference were General Dwight D. Eisenhower, Army Chief of Staff; Admiral Chester Nimitz, Chief of Naval Operations; Maj. Gen. Harry H. Vaughan, the president's military aide; Admiral William D. Leahy, the president's chief of staff and Capt. Clark Clifford, the president's naval aide.

Chiang Will Quit Fighting, Work For Peace In Manchuria

BY JOHN RODERICK

Nanking, Wednesday, June 5 (AP)—A high government source said today that Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek had agreed in a conversation with U. S. General Marshall to halt the Central government's offensive in Manchuria and leave the way open for peace negotiations with Chinese communists.

This usually reliable official said that Chiang further agreed to establish a branch office of the Peiping executive (truce) headquarters in Changchun, capital of Manchuria, to open negotiations.

Marshall who talked five hours yesterday with the Generalissimo, was understood to have laid the proposals before Gen. Chou En-Lai, chief negotiator for the Communists.

The government official added that Chiang first proposed a seven day truce, but that Marshall suggested 10 days.

Chiang reportedly said he would issue a cease-fire order during this period, regardless of what action Communists take.

Permit To Appeal Granted Four Men In Hooper Murder

Lansing, June 4 (AP)—The state supreme court today granted four Detroit men permission to appeal from their conviction in Calhoun county last July on charges of conspiracy to murder the late Senator Warren G. Hooper of Albia.

The four are Harry Fleisher, Sam Fleisher, Pete Mahoney and Mike Selik. They were sentenced to serve 4½ to five years in prison but were released on $15,000 bail each. The supreme court continued their bail.

Submitting a long list of claimed errors in the trial, attorneys for the four argued that the defense was prejudiced by release during the trial of Attorney General John R. Delmonico's report of conditions in the state prison of southern Michigan and by the prosecution's introduction of evidence concerning a grand jury indictment of Frank D. McKay, Grand Rapids politician.

COAST GUARD HOLDS MEN IN STRIKE CRISIS

MARITIME UNIONS READY TO MAKE CONCESSIONS

BY NORMAN WALKER

Washington, June 4 (AP)—All discharges from the Coast Guard were suspended tonight—an apparent move to conserve manpower for the running of merchant ships if there is a Maritime strike.

This was disclosed as negotiations to avert the threatened June 15 walkout on all coasts took a brighter turn. Two unions indicated willingness to make further concessions.

Coast Guard officials said the suspension was only "for the time being" and gave no explanation for it. The service already is down to 24,000 from the wartime peak of 170,000.

Despite the official silence, the purpose of the move seemed obvious—especially since other government sources have said privately that the Navy might be expected to halt the demobilization of officers and men who have merchant ship training, as a strike-preparedness measure.

Still Far Apart

Louis Saillant, secretary-general of the World Federation of Trade Unions, predicted in Paris at the same time that French longshoremen will refuse to load any ships manned by the U. S. Army if the seamen strike. He said this is an example of the responses he expects to his call for "solidarity" with the U. S. unions.

Negotiations seemed to be making progress here although both sides still are far apart.

"We don't want to strike," said a spokesman for the committee for Maritime unity, representing the seven unions which have called the walkout. "We're willing to compromise and sign a satisfactory agreement. The point is, what is satisfactory?"

While the Navy surveyed its manpower and prepared to mobilize volunteers from former Navy men to work the ships if necessary, Vincent J. Malone, head of the Pacific Coast Marine Firemen's Union, told reporters that the Navy's actions are "just part of the war of nerves the government is conducting against us."

Prepared To Compromise

A government official close to the whole situation suggested privately the next logical government step in preparing for a strike would be to halt the demobilization of Navy men with Merchant Marine experience.

Malone and Joseph Curran, president of the CIO National Maritime Union, both gave newsmen to understand they are prepared to make new compromise offers.

The seven unions of seamen and dockworkers have asked for pay increases ranging from 22 to 35 cents an hour, with a 40-hour week for seamen. In negotiating sessions with East Coast shippers Curran presented a compromise 42-hour week demand. Today he described this as "our latest but not our last offer."

Negotiations so far have been concentrated on the dispute between NMU and East Coast operators. U. S. Conciliation Chief Edgar L. Warren said he hoped it would establish a pattern for settling disputes between other groups of operators and other unions.

New Setup Speeds Liquor Enforcement

Lansing, June 4 (AP)—More efficient liquor law enforcement was seen today in the state supreme court decision upholding the constitutionality of a proposed three-man liquor violations hearing board.

Chairman John P. Aaron of the commission declared that the board would give the commission "more time to run the state's liquor business." He said the board of examiners would keep the hearings up to date.

"It will improve the efficiency of the administration of the liquor business and help enforcement by speeding up hearings," he declared.

RESIGNATION ACCEPTED

Lansing, June 4 (AP)—The resignation of Charles F. Hemans, Lansing attorney who confessed paying bribes to legislators and was a state witness in several graft conspiracy trials, from the state bar was accepted by the state supreme court today.

Franco Ban By U. N. Seen As Handicap For Atom Control

BY LARRY HAUCK

New York, June 4 (AP)—The exclusion of Franco Spain from the United Nations makes effective control of atomic energy and armaments impossible, the U. N. subcommittee investigating Spain declared today.

It recommended that Spain be considered for membership in the United Nations if Generalissimo Francisco Franco were removed.

The subcommittee, which called for a general assembly action against the Falangist regime in its report to the security council, made the atomic-armament statement in a supplement stressing a weakness of the U. N. security system.

"Geographically, Spain is a nation of importance with respect to the organization of the security system of the United Nations," the report said.

"The exclusion of the Franco regime from the United Nations would leave Spain outside of any international arrangements relating to the maintenance of international peace and security in that region and render impossible a really effective system of international control of atomic energy and the relating scientific information and raw materials or regulation of armaments, as envisaged by the United Nations."

In commenting on the "gap" in the security lineup, Dr. Herbert V. Evatt, sub-committee chairman and Australian delegate to the council, said, however, that the sub-committee had found no evidence to support contentions that German scientists were at work on atomic energy within Spain.

The report to the security council, which meets at 3 p. m. (E.D.T.) Thursday, recommended that the assembly be asked to call for world-wide severance of relations with Spain if Franco was still in power at the time of the assembly's September meeting here.

TRUMAN CALLED 'UNION-BUSTER'

Pledge To Carry On For Roosevelt Broken, CIO-UAW Charges

Cleveland, June 4 (AP)—The CIO United Auto Workers' executive board today declared that President Truman had broken a pledge to carry on his predecessor's policies, and denounced what it termed "the vicious union-busting legislation which the president has proposed to congress."

In a resolution submitted by President Walter Reuther the board listed five "samples of President Truman's failure to keep his pledge" that he would "carry on the program and policies of Franklin D. Roosevelt," the resolution declared. President Truman was directly or indirectly responsible for all of them.

One point declared OPA "has passed out to manufacturers unwarranted price increase with a lavish hand," causing a sharper increase in the cost of living than in any period during the war.

Another asserted "the administration has made no effort to prevent congress from wrecking price control" and a third declared the government "has failed miserably to meet the housing crisis."

A fourth said "the administration stood idly by while senators of President Truman's own party filibustered to death bills to establish a permanent fair employment practices committee."

The fifth said "a full employment economy, which Truman promised, and to which he was committed, has failed to materialize, either in fact or in effective planning."

Rate Raise Granted To Western Union

Washington, June 4 (AP)—The federal communications commission announced tonight that it will allow Western Union to increase message rates 10 per cent for one year and revise certain classes of service.

The increase will apply to full rate, day letter, night letter, serial, and press messages.

Western Union must file revised rate schedules with the commission and give 30 days' notice before putting the new rates into effect.

The commission also announced that it has ordered a full investigation of Western Union's rate schedule.

PAY INCREASE PROPOSED FOR ENLISTED MEN

BILL IS DESIGNED TO ENCOURAGE VOLUNTEERS

Washington, June 4 (AP)—The senate brought a teen-age induction, pay-increasing draft bill up to the brink of final action tonight only to halt work abruptly till tomorrow.

Democratic Leader Barkley (Ky) explained that several hours might be required to dispose of a substitute proposal by Senator Revercomb (R-WVa) to continue selective service authority until May 15, 1947 but suspend all inductions until congress ordered otherwise.

The senate already had voted 53 to 26 to make 18 and 19 year olds—now temporarily exempted—subject to call and had approved pay hikes for enlisted men when Senator Gurney (R-SD) in charge of the bill, announced that it seemed impossible to get a final vote within a reasonable time.

Delay Protested

Senator Maybank (D-SC) protested vigorously against any delay, forcing a series of quorum calls.

Barkley finally moved to recess the senate until 11 a. m. (E.S.T.) tomorrow and was sustained on a 45 to 17 roll call vote.

On a standing vote, the senate accepted an amendment by Senator Magnuson (D-Wash) which would give special deferments to scientific students in accredited schools.

The pay boost, proposed by Senators LaFollette (Prog-Wis) and Johnson (D-Colo) is designed to spur voluntary enlistments.

Pay of privates would be boosted from $50 a month to $75; privates first class from $54 to $80; corporals from $66 to $90; and sergeants from $78 to $100. Corresponding increases would be paid to marines and sailors.

These same increases had been voted by the house along with increases ranging from 10 to 20 per cent for other non-commissioned and for commissioned officers.

Officers Not Included

The senate, however, passed up the question of pay raises for commissioned officers and adopted a lower scale of monthly pay boosts for staff, technical and master sergeants and equivalent ranks in other services than approved by the house.

Senator Gurney (R-SD) estimated the cost of the senate-approved pay scale at $450,000,000, while Johnson placed the figure at $350,000,000.

The administration won a major round in the draft struggle late today when the senate voted, 53 to 26 to make youths of 18 and 19 subject to selective service once again.

Then the chamber drove on toward a vote on the broader controversy over extending the selective service act until May 15, 1947, or depending upon volunteer enlistments alone.

The decision on the teen-agers came when the senate approved an amendment by Senator Gurney (R-SD), who said induction of the youths was necessary if fathers and persons who have served in the armed forces more than 18 months are to be discharged this fall.

If the extension measure itself wins senate passage, it must re-

CONFLICT SEEN ON ISLE ROYALE

Park Service Requests
Jurisdiction Over
Nearby Waters

Lansing.—The national park service wants exclusive jurisdiction over waters within 4 1/2 miles of the Isle Royale shoreline in Lake Superior. It has fixed sports fishing regulations which are in conflict with state laws.

The federal demands will be discussed this month at a conference with Director Hoffmaster and a representative of the attorney general's office. The date has not been set.

Hoffmaster doubts that the federal government can just push the state out of the picture and do as it sees fit. He feels certain that if the federal government is to have exclusive jurisdiction over waters 4 1/2 miles from the island's shoreline, it must be authorized by the legislature.

"Unless authorized differently by statute, we always have taken the position that the lake bottom must be held in trust for the people," Hoffmaster said.

He pointed out that the national park service wants to limit commercial fishing around the island and also set up its own seasons and other regulations covering game fishing. The service does not require state resident or non-resident fishing licenses. It does not want seines or pond nets in harbors and bays because of the commercial aspect which this gear implies. At present state fishing license is required for any person fishing in Lake Superior itself at or near the island.

The service also wants exclusive control of passenger-carrying craft, harbor sanitation, control of aircraft, fire protection and small boat operations.

turn to the house for action. That branch, in voting the draft a nine-month lease on life, decided to exempt the teen-agers.

Inexperience Cited

Meantime selective service is operating under a temporary exemption until July 1. This stop-gap measure provides that 18 and 19 year old youths shall not be inducted, a stipulation that was inserted on the insistence of a house majority.

During today's debate, Senator Stanfill (R-Ky) argued against the teen-age draft, appealing to his colleagues not to introduce "impressionable" youths "to adult life through army sergeants."

A vocal group vigorously protested what they termed "peace-time conscription" of teen-agers, basing their arguments chiefly around the contention that they are too inexperienced to serve in forces of occupation.

From Stanfill came the cry: "We do not use boys in our police force at home. Then why should we use them for police work in Germany and Japan?"

He maintained that the armed forces could fill their requirements from a reservoir of a million men between 20 and 30 who he said had been deferred during wartime for service on the home front, plus volunteers.

Hunting And Fishing

By Sid Gordon

THE FLY FISHERMAN'S LEADERS

The beginning fly fisherman worries about his inability to drop that fly right where he wants it to go. Often, he thinks that it is the fault of his poor casting when the fly doesn't hit the spot he selects. If he does not stop the butt joint of his rod at 12 o'clock, it is poor casting.

When he allows the tip, the middle joint and the butt joint to go back of a straight line from hand, shoulder and sky directly above him, the rod doesn't have a chance to get that "spring" it needs. All the power of that good bamboo is lost which drives the line, fly and leader to the spot it should go.

If he casts all right, has a heavy enough line, say a D level line for a five to six and one-half ounce rod, the leader may not be right. He then must look at his leader. Usually the fault is too light a leader. He "steps down" too quickly from the heavy line.

A size D level line should have one strand of about a 15 pound test gut for the first strand. His rod should be made at one end for tying to the line. Let us discuss the tying of a nylon leader for fishing a dry fly, a floating fly.

You will often hear a fisherman say that he cannot do anything with his fly when he uses a nylon leader. It is usually his own fault when he makes this remark and laziness is back of it. He buys six or seven feet of one size nylon and ties it on in one even length. This is wrong.

Buy a 10-yard roll of each of the following sizes, 15, 12, 10, eight and six pound nylon. Cut the 15-inch length off each roll. Make your leader loop in the 15 pound test, then tie the 15, 12, 10, eight and six pound lengths together, using the "barrel knot." This knot will hold until the leader breaks and the nylon cost is very, very low.

When you need a little finer end for very small flies on clear water, carry along some strands of 1X nylon. Tie another 15-inch strand directly to that six-pound nylon and your fly will go where it should. When you use long lengths your nylon leader rolls badly in the air and has poor direction.

When you cut it up into 15-inch lengths it will cast almost as well as the very expensive Spanish gut. When you buy 44-inch lengths of the nylon gut, cut it into three pieces and use one at a time.

If you wish a heavy wet fly leader, six-foot lengths, use two feet of 15-pound test, two feet of 12-pound and two feet of 10-pound. It will then cast much better, for your heavy length, right at the line, tapers down as it should. You can use 15-pound, 10-pound and six-pound when you wish a lighter wet fly leader.

Primaries Decide Hot Contests In 5 States Tuesday

BY D HAROLD OLIVER
Associated Press Political Reporter
Initial returns—very fragmentary—from California's hot senatorial cross-filing primary last night (Tuesday) put incumbent Republican Senator William F. Knowland in the lead for renomination in the Republican column and Will Rogers, Jr. ahead in the Democratic.

Rep. Ellis E. Patterson, Los Angeles Democrat, was running second for the senatorial nomination on the Democratic and third on the Republican ticket. Rogers was second in the Republican count and Knowland third in the Democratic.

Gov. Earl Warren, Republican seeking another four year term, led Democratic Attorney General Robert Kenny on the Republican ticket and trailed Kenny only slightly on the Democratic. California permits candidates to file on both tickets.

Other returns at midnight from yesterday's five-state primary balloting:

New Mexico—Senator Dennis Chavez led Gov. John J. Dempsey by less than 400 votes for the Democratic senatorial nomination in returns from 87 of 89 precincts.

Alabama—James E. (Big Jim) Folsom, 37-year-old-war veteran who had CIO-PAC support, won the Democratic nomination for governor in a run-off with Lieut. Gov. Handy Ellis. In Alabama a Democratic nomination means election. Rep. Luther Patrick, another CIO-PAC backed candidate, was defeated by Laurie C. Battle, ex-army major, in another run-off for the Democratic house nomination in the 9th district.

New Jersey—Rep. Fred A. Hartley, Jr. overcame strong CIO-PAC opposition to win Republican renomination over Walter A. Schaefer, insurance man in the 10th Congressional District. In the only statewide contest, Alfred E. Driscoll, state alcoholic beverage control commissioner running with party organization backing, had a 3 to 2 lead over former Governor Harold G. Hoffman for the Republican gubernatorial nomination, with half the state counted.

South Dakota—Gov. M. Q. Sharpe was running second to Attorney General George T. Mickelson in a three-man race for the Republican gubernatorial nomination. On the Democratic side, Richard Haeder led two opponents.

ORE SHIPPING IS FAR BEHIND

Only 104,987 Tons Are Loaded At Docks At Escanaba

Only 104,987 tons of iron ore had been shipped from the Chicago and North Western railway docks here up to noon yesterday. This tonnage was carried in 10 boats, the first of which came to Escanaba on May 25. All the ore was received from the Menominee range.

The Str. Ishpeming was taking on a cargo yesterday afternoon, and the Str. Conway was scheduled to arrive last night. Other carriers scheduled up to June 10 are the Strs. Mudge, Marquette, Grand Island, Malietoa, Crete and P. D. Block.

Iron ore shipments are far behind last year's figure for a corresponding period, due to mine and coal strikes which for many weeks kept industry at a standstill. At this time last year, about one and a half million tons had been loaded at Escanaba.

Clergyman Resigns
Menominee—The Rev. G. F. Genszler, pastor of St. James Lutheran church, announced yesterday that he had resigned the pastorate of the Emanuel Lutheran church in Menominee. Mr. Genszler had been serving both congregations since 1936.

The Rev. George Gerberding, nephew of the Rev. George Genszler, of St. Paul, a former pastor of St. James, has accepted the call to the Menominee church where he conducted his first services yesterday.

Mr. Gerberding, son of the Rev. R. H. Gerberding of Minneapolis, president of the Northwest Lutheran Synod, was released as a chaplain by the Navy several weeks ago. He served here as supply pastor three years ago while Mr. Gerberding was on vacation.

Hire New Golf Pro

Ishpeming—Neil J. McGregor, for 21 years pro at the Wawonawin Golf club and the north country's best known golfing figure, has resigned.

The board of directors Saturday received his resignation and appointed as his successor Warren Farley, a recently returned serviceman.

McGregor has been employed at the Mather mine, of the Cleveland-Cliffs Iron company, and last year had a full time mine schedule through the summer, being able to devote only late afternoons and weekends to the golf club. In his letter of resignation, he advised the board he felt he was not doing justice to the club or to himself to permit this condition to continue. While he appreciated the willingness of the club to continue the part-time schedule, he asked for his release.

Fox, the men said, went down in a few seconds after the boat turned over and did not come to the surface. His body was recovered about 9 p. m.

BUDGET DEP'T IS CRITICIZED

Bureau Of Governmental Research Offers Its Recommendations

Lansing, (AP)—The Bureau of Governmental Research has published a survey asserting the State's Budget Department was not being properly utilized and that the State Civil Service Commission's Control over state employment is a barrier to proper development of other state functions.

Opposing an attorney general's opinion which outlined the civil service commission's authority to abolish or consolidate jobs in state agencies and to fix their duties, the survey said:

"If the powers of the civil service commission are as extensive as has been held, little authority or responsibility would be left to the rest of the state government, at least administratively.

"The important question here is not whether the civil service commission pushes the exercise of its powers to the limit, but the fact that any such assumption stands as a barrier to the proper development of other functions—in particular the budget department."

The survey, written by Dr. Irving Tenner, suggested either that the attorney general review his opinion or that the legislature confer on the budget department "sole responsibility" for deciding how many positions an agency needs.

"The legislature has as much right to interpret the constitution as the attorney general, with those who object having the right to appeal for and await a determination."

The survey recommended that the state building and construction division of the administrative board be made a section of the budget department instead.

It recommended that the budget director's term of office be the same as the governor's, asserting during the first six months of a new governor's term the chief executive has to rely on a budget director named by his predecessor. Budget directors should have training and experience in public finance and administration, it said. It also recommended placing the department of business administration under the budget office.

Mrs. Samuel Wells Is Asphyxiated

Menominee — Mrs. Samuel A. Wells, 1528 Sheridan road, died Monday of carbon monoxide gas poisoning from engine fumes in the cabin of the Wells yacht, Betty B., on the Illinois river near Morris, Illinois.

The auxiliary sloop purchased recently by Mr. Wells was being sailed up from Peoria, Ill., by Mr. and Mrs. Wells, Robert S. Weidemann, 1521 Sheridan road; and G. Wellesley McCormick, 1320 Sheridan road. The party left Peoria in the yacht on Saturday morning for the trip up the Illinois river and Chicago canal to Lake Michigan.

The tragic death of Mrs. Wells occurred this morning while the craft was under way on the river. Efforts at resuscitation failed.

Mrs. Wells, 32 year of age, was the former Miss Elizabeth Bertles, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. John F. Bertles of Spokane, Wash. Her mother was a daughter of the late Francis Brown of Marinette.

Ford River

Ford River, Mich.—Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Pratt of Ford River Mills spent Memorial Day in Escanaba visiting at the Roscoe Pratt home, and witnessing the parade. It was the first time in four years that Mrs. Pratt had seen Ludington street, having been confined to her home.

Timber Producers Plan To Organize Insurance Company

Ishpeming — Marquette county members of the Timber Producers association are advised that plans for forming an insurance company will be presented in detail to a meeting of the board of directors June 13 in Wakefield. The membership already has approved the proposal.

Purchase of a mutual company whose business could easily be adapted to the needs of the producers is being studied.

The association is working with the OPA on approved hardwood prices, but incomplete cost data from producers has made it impossible, up to this time, to obtain a comprehensive picture on which to base price increases. Hemlock has gone up $5 and $5.50 a thousand board feet as the result of representations made to the OPA. The association, working closely with Michigan Tech and the Upper Peninsula Industry Planning Council toward greater activity in forest research, the association has pledged full support to the council's program.

VFW Head Resigns

Iron Mountain — Lawrence Paige, Quinnesec, today announced his resignation as commander of Dickinson post, Veterans of Foreign Wars.

"Conditions beyond my control make it necessary for me to resign as commander and to discontinue my work with the VFW," Paige said. He has notified the post, by letter, of his decision.

Paige served five years as commander of the post; was inactive two years, and then served another two years as commander.

Truman and 1948

POLITICAL experts are now trying to determine whether President Truman bettered or injured his political fortunes by the drastic action he took to end the railroad strike.

The day the strike was called by the two brotherhoods, it was estimated that Truman's popularity had hit an all-time low, and when it was ended it soared to a new high. But after the initial excitement was over, public sentiment changed quickly.

Organized labor, of course, was quick to vigorously oppose Truman-sponsored legislation, which would provide for the drafting of recalcitrant strikers who refused to work in government-seized industries. Labor leaders called it vicious and fascist.

Even conservative senate leaders, such as Taft of Ohio, criticized the Truman measure, but for an opposite reason. They see in the legislation the threat of increased government ownership or control of business.

As it now stands, it is unlikely that Truman will any Republican votes. At present, he is being bitterly assailed by some union leaders, who threaten to work for his defeat in 1948. Experience has shown, however, that union heads are not always able to control the votes of all their members. Whether the Republicans gain much labor following out of the present difficulties in which the Truman administration finds itself will depend on their choice of a presidential nominee in 1948. The reputation and qualifications of the candidate mean more to voters than the campaign platform, hurriedly drawn up "to run on but not to stand on."

Upholds Press Freedom

FREEDOM of the press and the cause of individual liberty, which is the dominant feature of American democracy, was given a rousing endorsement by the United States supreme court Monday in an unanimous decision which, in effect, gives the American press wide latitude to criticize the courts.

Prior to the supreme court decision Monday, the standards of freedom of the press had been well defined on all counts except on the subject of the privileges of the press in relation to judicial authority. In fact, there has developed in recent years a tendency for autocratic judges to hold their position beyond the pale of press criticism and an increasing number of citations for contempt of court have resulted.

Justice Frankfurter aptly summed up the crux of the issue in his separate concurring opinion that "a free press and an independent judiciary are both necessary to a free society and that one of the potent means for assuring judges their independence is a free press."

Freedom of the press implies and guarantees the right to criticize in public print. The same guarantee extends to the right of the individual citizen to speak out openly in public address to voice his thoughts and opinions. Thus, in defending and protecting the rights of press freedom, the newspapers are also protecting the rights of the individual citizen. You cannot abridge one without abridging the other.

The supreme court has done a noble service to the cause of American democracy in ruling unanimously that newspapers—and individual citizens—do possess the privilege under the American constitution to criticize wrong wherever they see it, even in the courts of the land.

By this decision the supreme court has struck a lethal blow against the invidious interests that have worked vigorously and nefariously to undermine the American press and to nullify its potency in protecting the public interest.

Not only the newspapers but all true Americans have gained tremendously by the supreme court's action.

Would Weaken Prestige

BOTH General Eisenhower and Senator Vandenberg issued warnings on Monday that the United States must maintain an adequate military force to complete her large postwar job that confronts it.

Military occupation of Germany and Japan must be done effectively if these two countries are to be prepared for their peacetime roles. The threat of hunger, unemployment and other postwar ills is real in those countries, and unless these problems can be disposed of satisfactorily we shall be sowing the seeds for another war.

General Eisenhower pointed to the need for continued scientific research work in the military field so that America can have advantage of most modern weapons and techniques. Ultimately, our national security will lie not in having the largest standing army but in the possession of advanced military techniques that provide an effective defense against weapons of aggression.

For the time being, however, we need an outward display of military strength, for the advantage it gives us in bargaining for the cause of peace. We do not want armed might for purposes of aggression, but for winning the peace. To reduce our military strength below minimum requirements would be to also lower our prestige in the field of diplomacy.

The Maritime Strike

HAVING just emerged from a siege of national strikes that disastrously upset the reconversion program, the nation is confronted with one more big labor problem, the threatened maritime strike set for June 15.

If the merchant ships are tied up, it will surely affect American industrial schedules but, even worse, it will mean a death sentence for hundreds of thousands of persons abroad who are relying on American food shipments as the only hope against starvation.

Whether the merchant fleet can be maintained with Navy reserve volunteers and with personnel from the armed services, as President Truman suggests, is still uncertain. It is improbable that all of the ships, or that even most of them, can be continued in service on this basis.

It seems inconceivable that any section of American labor would place their own demands for higher wages, no matter how worthy, on a scale that is balanced by the lives of thousands of their fellowmen. It is, nonetheless, exactly the situation with which we are confronted today.

It is situations like this that make necessary the establishment of mandatory arbitration in labor disputes where the public interest is so vitally affected.

Other Editorial Comments

BREAD AND POTATOES (Grand Rapids Press)

Effective June 1, the government's recent request that the size of bread and rolls be reduced 10 per cent, by weight, will be made law. The size of the new loaves will be determined on the basis of those the bakers were producing on March 15, 1945, and since most bakers in this area already have complied voluntarily, the majority of local residents probably will not be affected by the order.

As part of its campaign to encourage a greater conservation of wheat the department of agriculture recently has launched a drive to promote the potato as a good bread substitute. It attempts first of all to dispel the popular notion that potatoes are fattening. The department says it just isn't so, that a good-sized potato doesn't contain any more calories than an average serving of peas or corn or two slices of bread.

The spud probably has been the victim of misunderstanding; it's what goes on the potato, and not the potato itself, that adds pounds to the waistline. Actually it is as important as wheat products are to the well-rounded diet. And if the minerals which lie just under the skin of the potato are not lost in paring or cooking, it rates as one of the most valuable foods.

Michigan residents in these times are particularly fortunate in that their state is considered one of the nation's richest potato producing areas. The present wheat shortage may do much to restore the potato to its rightful position of prominence on the country's dinner tables. But in any event, the potato is going to make it relatively easy to accept such measures as a cut in the size of bread loaves.

THE BEST OF THE NEWS (Christian Science Monitor)

In view of some of the more sensational news items in the past few weeks, we would like to record some other goings-on that will never be given the same size headlines, but of which readers deserve to be reminded:

Five million, one hundred thousand American passenger trains (more or less) ran several hundred million miles last year without a single fatal accident; there hasn't been a major kidnapping case in the United States since 1942; the increase in marriages continues to be greater than the increase in divorces; Florida taught Negroes to use voting machines in the recent Democratic Party primaries; 130,000,000 persons in the United States last year did not suffer a single serious accident; American fire losses have at no time equalled the heavy rate that prevailed during the 1920's and 1930's.

Also, in case you haven't noticed, the brand of baseball is considerably improved over the wartime variety, of which there used to be so much complaint.

No Rule to Be Afraid Of.

The grammar has a rule absurd
Which I would call an outworn myth:
"A preposition is a word
You mustn't end a sentence with."

That rule I very often flout
Because it makes me far from calm.
It's one I do not care about.
I wonder where they got it from!

I'll make a preposition do
The thing I want to use it for.
They should that be objected to.

World Events Analyzed

BY MARQUIS CHILDS

Washington—There should be a useful handbook called "How to Write A Veto Message." President Truman could use a copy just now.

It is not merely the dilemma of controversial labor legislation which is before him. One day soon, Congress will put on the President's desk an act renewing price control. But it will be so moth-eaten and tattered that the President may be compelled to reject it.

In the uproar over the strikes, the public has hardly been aware of the way in which the Senate Banking and Currency Committee has taken the stuffing out of price control. The committee has approved amendments which would take off ceilings on livestock, poultry, eggs and dairy products, effective June 30.

Childs

—THREAT TO PRICE CONTROL—

That would knock price control right out the window. But it would do more than that. It would channel grain in even greater proportion than today into the feeding of animals for quick profit. Consequently, grain for relief would disappear unless ceilings were quickly taken off grains. So there, like a house of cards, the already weakened control system goes tumbling down.

Economic stabilizer Chester Bowles has made his position plain. He says that such a bill must be vetoed. It is what he is saying in private to everyone who will listen.

But it will be, nevertheless, a tough decision for the President if only because of the timing. As it appears now, the new price control act, or what will be called a price control act, should land on the President's desk about June 15. On June 30 the present OPA act expires.

If the President vetoes the bill, there will be only one chance of saving price control. That will be through a concurrent resolution, adopted by both houses, extending the present act for nine months or a year.

With a sharp veto message, the President could put the issue up to congress. He could say that the bill sent him by congress was a mockery of price control. He could say it would be better to do away with it entirely and save the money spent on OPA's staff than to go through with such a farce.

That would take political courage. It would be a gamble. The way political melodrama is played, two weeks is a short time in which to save the heroine from the onrushing engine of inflation.

There will certainly be pulling and hauling among the men close to the President. At his right hand, almost as persistent as his shadow, is John W. Snyder. Snyder's advice is always on the side of caution and wait-and-see. The risk of a veto would frighten the timid Snyder.

—FOOD PRICES TO JUMP—

It can be said with certainty that Bowles would not preside over an OPA that had been cut to pieces. It has been difficult to hold even the semblance of a line with the present act under the pressure of wage-price increases. In the recent order raising the price of dairy products, Bowles' motive was in part to take off the pressure for increases piling up on congress. Whether it will have any appreciable effect in that direction is a question. The appetite for more sometimes seems insatiable.

Bowles is convinced that food prices will jump 20 per cent immediately if controls are taken off and the subsidies dropped. That will be only the beginning. Processors and handlers along the way will tack on their own extra freight charges. The possibility, as Bowles sees it, is for increases within a year of from 40 or 50 per cent to 150 per cent.

Far more alarmist is chairman Mariner S. Eccles of the Federal Reserve Board. He called Bowles' estimates ultra-conservative. Several times publicly, Eccles has made cassandra-like prophecies of the imminent peril of inflation.

Such a price spiral as Eccles foresees, if all the brakes are taken off, would start what the atomic scientists call a chain reaction. Labor would immediately agitate for higher wages. The round of strikes would start again.

The tragic thing, of course, is that congress has let price control go until the eleventh hour. Naturally, manufacturers are holding goods off the market. If the boom-to-bust rush begins, we will have one small satisfaction. At least we will know the pressure groups to blame, for they have spent millions in advertising their purpose.

There's nothing in it to abhor,
For since my school days first commenced,
It is a practice which I've found
No reason to protest against,
Amid the folks I've been around.

And though to purists it's a sin,
And one that's largely frowned upon,
It's one that I've persisted in Whatever spot I'm dwelling on.

For if to any sentence pad
A preposition adds more pith,
And aids what I am driving at,
Why, that is what I'll end it with.

One of my most valued scrapbook treasures is an article, "What's Wrong With Radio Rhetoric?" which was published about two years ago by the magazine Broadcasting. The author vigorously condemns such "incorrect" radio constructions as "You will find what you are interested in." He emphasizes that "it is incorrect to terminate a sentence with a preposition." He then clinches his argument with these profound words: "It should be frowned upon!"

"For the Luvva Pete, Hold Still a Minute!"

Good Morning!

By The Bugler

WELL, JUNE IS HERE—The month of June came in Saturday, and if she is busting out all over it is because her radiator is frozen. In this month of flowers, June brides and wool socks, gardeners are keeping one eye on the beet worms and the other on the thermometer. Every night they go to bed feeling fairly certain that the bean and tomato plants will be frozen in the morning, and every morning they get up and look at the garden before shoveling more precious coal into the furnace.

Dunathan

Ah, yes—the month of June! The garden parties consist of placing blankets over the radishes, and feeling the frosted tips of the green onions. And the weddings are endurance contests for the bride and bridesmaids in their filmy gowns as soon as they step out of doors. As for the men, their noses are as red as the roses in their buttonholes—a color whipped into individual beaks by the cold winds of this month of June.

Altogether, June has so far been an ice-cube of a month, about as gay and warm-hearted as negotiations between John L. Lewis and labor conciliators on settling the coal miners' strike.

VANDALS AT WORK—Pioneer Trail Park is one of the most popular parks in the county park system. Its location is convenient to Gladstone and Escanaba, and it has some conveniences not found elsewhere. In addition to this, the park marks the site of the one of the pioneer settlements in Delta county.

The local chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution, recognizing the historical significance of the site, have erected a marker there.

The county road commission, which administers the county park program, has a hard time keeping vandals from practicing their destructive pranks at Pioneer Trail Park—and in other parks. Outstanding job of vandalism is the destruction of the old cemetery on a hill in the park, which was rehabilitated and fenced just a few years ago.

Today that little cemetery again is gone to ruin. Headstones have been toppled and broken, even the new fence that surrounded the graves of Delta county pioneers is wrecked. This wanton destruction is a matter for public concern. Perhaps the posting of a sign warning vandals of arrest and prosecution might help—and if arrests and prosecutions did follow it would deter others from such acts.

ADD PLACE NAMES—This column some time ago presented wacky stories allegedly explaining how certain cities received their names. These stories brought out others, including one by Al Starr, Escanaba high school faculty member, as told by him to a friend.

The story goes that in Lower Michigan many years ago an Indian chief was noted as a happy character who smiled frequently. Because Indians are usually considered taciturn, this excited comment among his white friends. One day, however, when white men came to the chief they found him sad and unsmiling. They asked him what his trouble was. The chief, with a wide sweep of his

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON

Washington.—Immediately after President Truman delivered his strong anti-labor message to Congress, Henry Wallace walked into his office, found a bevy of assistants waving prepared statements in his face, urging him to take issue with his boss on labor.

Pearson

This meant, of course, Wallace's exit from the Truman administration. For when a cabinet member blasts the President, he is through.

On the other hand, organized labor is the one group in political life on which Wallace has an electoral stranglehold. They have fought for him right down the line, and he for them. His assistants argued, therefore, that he could not now afford to remain silent—even if it meant his exit from the Truman administration.

Wallace listened while his assistants argued. Finally he buzzed for his chief political adviser, Harold Young of Dallas, Tex., who once got oil-smuggler Freeman Burford out from under a federal indictment at the time Burford's co-conspirator, Governor Dick Leche of Louisiana, was sent to jail for 12 years.

Young ambled into the room, his 250 pounds looking like an unmade bed, read the different labor statements prepared for the Secretary of Commerce, then made a gesture with his hands as if to tear each one of them into pieces.

That, in the end, was what Wallace did. He decided to make no statement critical of his chief's labor policy.

—WALLACE TOOK ORDERS—

In making this decision, Wallace's mind probably flashed back to another politically critical moment in the summer of 1943 when other advisers also urged him to issue a critical statement of another chief in the White House.

The chips were down then too. Roosevelt had just booted Wallace out of his job as head of the board of economic warfare in a David-and-Goliath battle with Jesse Jones. Wallace was then vice-president and couldn't be fired from that job. But Roosevelt had fired him from the BEW despite the fact that Wallace's chief fault was constantly nagging Jesse Jones about getting ahead with the war.

At that time also, the men around Wallace urged him to issue a scathing blast. Morris Rosenthal, Milo Perkins and others wanted him to break with Roosevelt. Instead, Wallace took the advice of his Texas friend, issued a statement written by Young which read:

"In time of war no one can question the wisdom of the Commander-in-Chief."

Note—Opinions are divided regarding the aftermath of this move. Some Wallace friends say that later his political stock rose to new heights. Others say that FDR let him go out and speak at every crossroad, then knifed him at the Chicago convention in favor of Harry Truman.

—HOUSEWIVES BATTLE OVER OPA—

Not in two decades has the nation paid any attention to the Republican primary in the 10th Congressional District of New Jersey. For 16 solid years it has been represented by Rep. Fred Hartley of Kearny, N. J., always considered so strongly entrenched that he even survived Roosevelt landslides.

This year, however, Representative Hartley is having the fight of his life from another Republican, Walter A. Schaefter, and the issue is one of the most interesting in the nation—OPA.

Hartley is one of the chief enemies of price control, is known at the congressional spokesman of the National Retail Dry Goods Association. There have even been indications that members of this association were pouring money into New Jersey to save their spokesman from defeat.

At first it was reported that Hartley would receive around $10,000 in campaign contributions from grateful NRDCG members, but at the rate he is spending money during the primary, it looks as if his campaign chest would run nearer $40,000. He is reported to be pouring an average of $200 into every one of his 44 voting districts.

Meanwhile, his opponent, with little money behind him, but the mass support of indignant housewives, has rolled up the biggest opposition ever before confronting Hartley. Even if Hartley doesn't lose, the temper of his opposition should leave its mark on other anti-OPA congressmen.

Note—How close Hartley is to the NRDCG was illustrated when the NRDCG wanted a showroom to display a series of charts attacking OPA. Finally, Representative Hartley stepped in, offered the hearing room of the post office and post roads committee, of which he is ranking Republican member. Other congressmen raised their eyebrows, since the post office committee had nothing to do with OPA. Later Hartley didn't like it when congresswoman Chase Woodhouse of Connecticut used her own office for a consumers exhibit favoring OPA.

The H. W. Reade scholarship was won by Dan Anderson, senior class president. It is awarded annually to an outstanding senior student interested in a college education. It represents the increment from a $10,000 bequest and is a cash award, part of which is paid the first year in college and the remainder the second year.

The senior students, Sue Moran and Patricia Farrell, received journalism awards, membership in Quill and Scroll, international society for high school journalists.

Forensic awards, pins presented by the Kiwanis club, were won by Sue Moran and Bill Nimzinsky, seniors; James Degnan, Marilyn Meiers and David Locke, juniors; Eunice Holmes, Barbara Duchaine and Jim Moran, sophomores, in debate; David Locke and James Degnan, orators; Sue Moran and Jim Moran, extempore speech; Patricia Frasher and Harold Sundelius, oratorical declamation; Margaret Weber and Valerie Spade, dramatic declamations. Newest Army Jet Fighting Plane Has More Speed

Farmington, L. I.—The newest Army jet fighting plane, designed and constructed here by Republic Aviation Corporation, has been thoroughly tested and a hundred or more will be built during the coming year. It is about the size of the Lockheed P-80, but somewhat heavier, and is claimed to have all the better characteristics of a great fighter plane.

Information concerning the new plane was first revealed here today, and at the same time at Wright Field, Ohio, to a group of aviators and scientists. It has a speed of more than 590 miles an hour, a service range of 1,000 miles, and a service ceiling of over 40,000 feet.

The XP-84 Thunderjet, as the plane will be called, is powered with a General Electric jet engine. Its air-scoop is located in the nose of the plane rather than on the sides, the customary place. It has an electrically operated removable canopy over the pilot which can be quickly opened at all air speeds to permit an emergency exit.

Couples Exchange
Vows In Double
Ceremony Here

At a pretty double wedding which took place recently at St. Patrick's church, two couples exchanged vows before the Rev. Fr. Martin B. Melican.

Miss Gladys Vanderlin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Vanderlin of Ishpeming, became the bride of Floyd Beauchamp, Escanaba, son of Mrs. Alice Beauchamp of Gladstone; and Miss Dorothy Lortz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Lortz of Soo Hill, became the bride of Lawrence Deno, son of Mr. and Mrs. Nels Deno of Danforth.

The two brides wore similar long-trained gowns of white mousseline de soie, with lace inserted necklines, and long sleeves which tapered to points at the wrists. Their finger-tip veils of net were held in place by tiaras of embroidered pearls and sequins, and they carried bouquets of white lilies and carnations.

Miss Sylvia Olson of Gladstone was Miss Vanderlin's bridesmaid, and Victor Hereau of Escanaba attended Mr. Beauchamp. Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Deno were the attendants for Miss Lortz and Mr. Deno.

Miss Olson wore a gown of white faille with taffeta bodice and net skirt, three quarter-length sleeves. Her short veil was held in place by a tiara of white feathers, and she carried a bouquet of pink gladioli and carnations.

Mrs. Deno wore a similar gown of aqua, and a tiara of aqua feathers with a short veil. Her bouquet was also of pink gladioli and carnations.

Mrs. Vanderlin attended her daughter's wedding wearing a gold suit with black accessories, and Mrs. Beauchamp wore a silk jersey dress with a printed top, and black accessories. Both wore corsages of red carnations.

Mrs. Lortz chose a grey suit with rose accessories, and wore pink carnations. Mrs. Deno's dress was a flowered print, and her accessories and flowers were pink.

Attend Breakfast
Following the wedding ceremony, a breakfast for members of both bridal parties was served at Belle's Coffee shop, where Mrs. Beauchamp cut her wedding cake, which was decorated with a miniature bride and groom. Mrs. Deno cut her wedding cake at a supper served in the evening at the home of her husband's parents.

When the two couples left later for their wedding trips, Mrs. Deno was wearing a black suit with white accessories. Mrs. Beauchamp's travelling costume was a black checked suit with white accessories.

Mr. and Mrs. Deno will reside at Soo Hill. The bridegroom recently received his discharge from the army after four and one-half years of service, most of which was spent in Europe. Mrs. Deno was formerly employed by the National Tea Company.

Mr. and Mrs. Beauchamp will reside in Escanaba. Mr. Beauchamp was recently discharged from the army after serving for 18 months in the Pacific. Mrs. Beauchamp was employed by Montgomery Ward.

Losing
A Chance to Get More Soap?

Steady there, Mrs. America. We're not kidding. Last month, women all over the country threw away enough used fats to make over twenty million big boxes of soap powder.

Maybe some women think they don't need to save used fats any longer. Perhaps others are doing half a job...or saving only now and then.

THE TRUTH IS: there won't be more soap until your country's industrial fat supply is much increased.

By turning in every drop of used fats, you'll help bring back more soaps sooner. You use soap every day, so save used fats every day. One pound helps make about two pounds of needed soaps...gets you 4¢ a pound from your butcher.

Where there's fat—there's soap

HEART ATTACK
DEATH CAUSELaViolette Post Mortem
Report States Death
Was Natural

That Ernest LaViolette, 59, Rapid River carpenter, whose body was found in a shallow part of the Taconish River after he had been missing for 10 days, came to his death as the result of a heart attack, is the conclusion of Dr. Charles Black, Lansing pathologist, who was called here to conduct a post mortem.

While here Dr. Black said LaViolette apparently died of suffocation. Vital organs were taken back to Lansing for laboratory study and analysis.

A detailed report of the pathologist's findings were received by Michigan State Police here.

Dr. Black said there was no evidence of drowning. He stated that death apparently was from a natural cause, that being a heart attack induced when the man wandered into the Taconish River and was making an effort to find his way out.

Missing since May 4, LaViolette was found on the afternoon of May 14.

Germfask Bests
Seney In Season
Opener Sunday

Baseball fans were out in force at Germfask Sunday afternoon to watch the home team chalk up a 19 to 2 victory over Seney in the first game of the season of the Central league.

It was a one-sided game, but Germfask's ability to clout the ball all over the lot was great entertainment for people of that region who have had no hometown baseball entertainment since 1941. Germfask scored one in the first, second and third inning, went on a slugging streak in the fifth and brought in nine more runs, two more in the eighth and five more in the ninth.

The starting lineup for Germfask, had Albert Lagman, c; Fred Losey, p (credited with 10 strikeouts the first six innings); Ray Lund, 1b; John Lustila, 2b; John Nickerson, ss; Matthew Sarritt, 3b; William Nickerson, rf; M. Skarritt, cf; Frank Smith, lf; Bat-teries and infield were changed in the sixth inning as follows: Joe Kornish, c; Russ Johnson, 1b; Joe Danko, 1b; John Benish, 2b, and Mason Rhodes, ss.

GIRL SCOUTS
PLAN SUMMERG-S Council Announces
All Inclusive
Program

A summer activity program is to be introduced to Gladstone Girl Scouts by the local G-S council, it is announced by Mrs. E. A. D'Amour, council president.

Scouting is a year round program, Mrs. D'Amour points out, and summer months are most important for then the girls can find time to do many things which are not possible during a busy school term.

Troop leaders have developed a fine program for the winter months so the executive board is assuming the responsibility of the summer activity program. This obligation is partially met by the day, troop and established camping, but then many of the girls are unable to attend the camp and then only for short periods.

Many activities have been planned, therefore, to meet the entire responsibility of the vacation period. This program of summer activities has developed in value and volume so rapidly in the last few years that it has become a vital part of community life in almost every place where there are Girl Scouts. Finding the things in which the girls are interested is the first step in planning such a program and the Gladstone board had these facts in mind in working out the following schedule.

On June 7 at 1:30 p. m. at the Public and School Library, Mrs. Fred LaChapelle of the Escanaba Recreational Department, will work with the Scouts who are interested in a handicraft class. She will have ideas for Brownies as well as Intermediates and Seniors, and will help leaders develop ideas in handicraft classes for the day camp during July.

There will be a series of cooking classes; the first to be held on June 10 at 1:30 in the Home Economics room of the local high school. The Intermediate Scouts will learn to make a few simple dishes and plan simple meals.

During the month of August, Mrs. Ray Gazlay, who is also chairman of the day camp during July, will plan two nature rambles with the girls. Dates will be announced later.

All the troops are distributing rosette buttons and two groups will have concessions at the rosette.

It is hoped that the board will be able to develop on "All Scout Service" sometime during August but plans are not complete as yet.

Several troops are forming ball teams who will be entered in the league of the City Recreational Department this summer. Tennis and volleyball is coming in for its share of interest, too. Gordon Haga will direct these teams.

The program committee of the local council has arranged for Miss Alice Delhin, a University of Michigan graduate and an ex-wife of the U. S. N., to help the girls develop marching technique and the Scouts will meet with her at the high school on June 11 at 7:30 o'clock. They are hoping to be able to march in the rosette parade in July.

Miss Lois Peterson, who will be in Gladstone during August, has consented to help the Gladstone Scouts plan their rally for the fall and will assist with the folk dances and costume for the event. She is a graduate of the University of Minnesota and did considerable work in dancing and costume there.

Gladstone has so very many opportunities for recreation, and Mrs. D'Amour wishes to thank the school board and City of Gladstone for their fine cooperation in helping the Girl Scout board to develop their program.

PAPER SALVAGE
IS VITAL WORKBoy Scouts To Conduct
Drive Saturday With City Help

Between 60 and 70 tons of scrap paper, old newspapers and magazines were collected by Boy Scouts in salvage drives conducted during the war years. It was estimated here yesterday by Scout leaders.

Another such drive is scheduled for Saturday, and in this drive as in the other conducted by the Scouts, the assistance of city trucks has been volunteered.

Between 6 and 8 tons of paper are expected in the impending drive.

Paper continues to be a critical item on the nation's list of scarcities and many tons of paper would be wasted annually were not such salvage drives conducted.

Such drives have been held throughout the nation with Boy Scouts in many communities responding to the request issued by the national headquarters.

An appeal is being made to housewives to search spare rooms, basements and attics for idle magazines, newspapers and other scrap paper.

Paper will only have to be placed on doorsteps or curbs, either in tied bundles or containers. If containers are used they will be left at the home for future use.

Homeowners wanting assistance in carrying paper from basement or attic may so advise the Scouts when they contact their homes.

City trucks will tour every street in town for paper and Scouts will contact the homes ahead of the trucks.

Mrs. Adam St. Onge has returned to her home in St. Ignace after spending the week-end visiting with her daughter, Mrs. Paul Faircloth, Escanaba, and at the Carl A. Olson home, city.

CRIPPLED TIGES SCORE SHUTOUT

Run In Fifth And Ninth
Blanks Athletics By
2 To 0 Count

Philadelphia, June 4 (AP)—Detroit's crippled Tigers pushed across a run in the fifth inning and went in the ninth tonight to take a 2 to 0 shutout over the Philadelphia Athletics before approximately 20,000 under the arches. Paul (Dizzy) Trout held the A's to seven hits.

It was the big righthander's fifth victory of the season. He was felled by a line drive off Pinch Hitter Hal Peck's bat in the ninth but continued pitching. In the fifth Detroit's Bob Swift walked and after Trout popped out, went to second on Ed Lake's single to short. George Kell hit to Jim Caulfield whose throw to second was too late to get Lake. Jimmy Outlaw also hit to Caulfield. The shortstop made a fine peg to Irv Hall to get Kell but Hall's peg to George McQuinn at first was too late for a double play and Swift scored.

The Tigers scored their second run in the ninth. With two down, Kell and Outlaw doubled. Detroit, 000 010 001—2 9 1 Philadelphia 000 000 000—0 7 0 Trout and Swift; Knerr, Savage (3) and Rosar.

Senators Have Job Waiting For Bobo

Washington, June 4 (AP)—A job with the Washington Senators is waiting for Bobo Newsom. If baseball's wandering pitcher wants it.

Old Bobo, who asked for and received an unconditional release from the Philadelphia Athletics, talked with Owner Clark Griffith of the Senators by long-distance telephone today.

"He said he's shopping around with other clubs and I said that we'd have a spot for him," Griffith told a reporter.

The Senators figure "Old Rubber-arm" would come in mighty handy, both in a relief and starting role. Walter Masterson, one of the club's starters, is out of the game for a week or more with a pulled back muscle, and there isn't an old head available to step into tight spots and save games.

Injury Jinx Can't Keep Tigers Down, Says Pilot O'Neill

By GIB STALEY

Philadelphia, June 4 (AP)—Injuries to three key players in last night's game with Washington, along with the other tough luck that has pestered the club all season, are not enough to detour it from the pennant highway, says Manager Steve O'Neill of the Detroit Tigers.

"We've still got a good ball club—all we have to do is to start hitting like I know we can," O'Neill said before his team's night game with the Philadelphia Athletics. "We've been getting plenty of tough breaks but if our hitters can only manage to get us four or five runs a game we'll be up in there."

O'Neill admitted the latest accident isn't very helpful to his pennant plans. Two of the three players injured last night, Second Baseman Eddie Mayo and Centerfielder Hoyt Hensler, are in a Washington hospital and Pitcher Stubby Overmire will be out of action at least a week.

"I'll be a lot longer before Evers and Mayo are playing again," O'Neill said. They collided while chasing a fly ball, Evers sustaining a broken jaw and Mayo extensive bruises and sprains. Overmire sprained his left hand in a slide to second base.

O'Neill said he planned to use Jimmy Bloodworth at second base tonight with Jimmy Outlaw replacing Evers in the outfield, adding:

"Bloodworth was in the service and I don't know just how he will do now that he's got a chance to play regularly. But I'm going to give him every opportunity and if he doesn't come through I'll put Skeeter Webb at the keystone sack."

O'Neill said he was counting on his present lineup to carry him through to the pennant again. He added that he does not plan to sign Buck Newsom, former Tiger hurler who received his unconditional release from the Athletics yesterday.

"I haven't been contacted by Buck and don't know if he got in touch with our office at Detroit," O'Neill said, adding:

"However, we're all set in the pitching department and I don't see how we could take on Newsom or anyone else right now."

First Nine Players Picked For College All-Star Baseball

East Lansing, June 4 (AP)—That the midwestern squad in the June 14 college all-star East-Midwest baseball game in Fenway Park, Boston, will be a representative team was assured today with the announcement of the selection of the first nine players to the 22-man squad.

The nine players announced today by Michigan State College Coach John H. Kobs, chairman of the 15-member committee of coaches named to pick the Midwest's squad from eight states. Subsequent announcements of squad personnel will be made later this week.

Named today to the midwest squad were Catcher Bill Collins of Wayne university, Infielders Keith Phelps of Ohio State, Sam Pinson of Mississippi State college and Charles Horn of Ohio university; Outfielders Pete Kramer of College of St. Thomas, St. Paul, Minn., and Frank Gilhooley of Notre Dame; and Pitchers Jim Fordan of Auburn, Frank Kellert of Oklahoma A. & M., and Ralph Theobald of Iowa State College.

Sponsored by the American Association of College Baseball Coaches, the all-star game is a move by coaches to establish collegiate baseball on an intercollegiate basis. Ray T. Fisher, University of Michigan mentor, heads the Midwest's four-man coaching staff.

Pregulman, Former Michigan Grid Ace, Signs With Packers

Lansing, June 4 (AP)—Mervin Pregulman, former football great at the University of Michigan, announced here today that he had signed a contract with the Green Bay Packers of the National Football League.

The former Lansing Central star, recently discharged as a navy lieutenant, said he would forfeit another year of collegiate eligibility at Michigan because of the "excellent offer made me by the Packers."

Pregulman will appear with the Packers in the All-Star game at Chicago in August.

Jacobs Not Worried About Selling Seats For Joe Louis Bout

New York, June 4 (AP)—When Mike Jacobs was told today that there were rumors that the sale of seats for the Joe Louis-Billy Conn-heavyweight championship fight in New York Yankee Stadium on June 19 wasn't all that he expected the promoter became angry, then laughed.

"What do you expect me to do, corner the U. S. treasury? The box office is averaging $40,000 to $50,000 a day," he said. "Ain't that enough money for anybody?" Jacobs said that most of the $100 ringside seats were sold but many of the cheaper seats still were available.

The Sports Parade

By Ken Gunderman

The City Softball association will decide once and for all Friday whether to retain the 60 foot baselines for league play this season or whether to return to the 55 foot bases that are provided for in the national rules. At the start of the season the city leagues used the 55 foot bases but didn't like them at all and voted to extend the baselines to 60 feet. Now the clubs are worrying about playing 60 foot bases in local play and then being forced to contend with 55 foot bases in tournaments and out of town games.

If the other associations in the peninsula retain the 55 foot bases, the Escanaba leagues probably will go back to the regulation diamond. It may be that the final decision cannot be made until after June 23, when the U. P. association meets at Negaunee. The U. P. group has already adopted the 55 foot bases to conform to national rules, but that was done before the start of the season. If other cities have found the same dissatisfaction with the short bases that Escanaba has, there is no reason why the U. P. association cannot vote for the longer baselines.

Arrangements for the installation of the cyclone fence at the softball field also will be discussed at the meeting Friday night. Some change in the layout is necessitated by the fact that the highway frontage available for softball at the field has been restricted to 400 feet. The association may have more fencing than it needs now that the area available for enclosure has been reduced. There still will be ample room for the second diamond that is contemplated later, however.

With the arrival of warmer weather, crowds at the lighted field are growing larger. Receipts from collections have increased proportionately but the "take" still is insufficient to meet operating expenses, which include the cost of electricity, cleanup and maintenance of the field, repairs, etc. Ideal softball weather is not here yet, though. Both local leagues are well balanced. The old timers' circuit never materialized but this may still develop when summer heat thaws out old soups stiffened by a long winter.

The Webster diamond is being abandoned for city league games. No. 1 diamond, located across from the state fairgrounds is being used to replace the Webster park, which has imperfections in the outfield that cannot be eliminated. Webster diamond is fine for cadet and junior league games in which the hitting is not long distance but it has been found unsatisfactory for the adult leagues. The city recreation department is considering the establishment of a new softball diamond in the area near the water tower.

Pittsburgh, June 4 (AP)—Brooklyn's league-leading Dodgers tottered on the brink of a double loss to Pittsburgh today but rallied to grab a 7-6 decision in the wild 11-inning nightcap after dropping the 4-3 opener to Lefty Frisk Ostermuller.

LESS BREAD TO BE HAD HERE

Curbed Production Now May Prevent Later Shut-Downs

Some Escanaba bakeries, in an effort to prevent complete shut-downs of their plants because of diminishing flour supplies, they cannot replace, are making fewer loaves of bread and fewer rolls. And both the bread and rolls are smaller in size.

Several others said that the bread shortage here last week-end was largely the result of the Memorial Day shut-down of bakeries and the fact that many consumers, anticipating shortages, bought greater than normal supplies. Demand for bread locally has increased since the curtailment of supplies to chain stores from metropolitan sources.

Bakeries are trying to supply retail stores with their normal demands and most retail merchants are limiting customers to a single loaf.

The general shut-down of flour mills because of diversion of grain, purchased by the federal government, to famine stricken areas of Europe and the Far East, is now affecting bread production in even the smaller communities, where flour supplies are generally more than adequate for current needs.

How long the shortage will last cannot be determined but steps have already been taken by the government to release grain to mills in areas where the shortages are most acute.

Daniel D. Brockway Was Oldest Pioneer Of Keweenaw County

Daniel D. Brockway was one of the earliest pioneers of the Lake Superior country, and helped discover the untold opportunities offered by mine, forest and commerce. He became a potent factor in the development and improvement of Keweenaw county. He was instrumental in organizing mining companies and was appointed agent of several.

He was born in Franklin county, Vt., May 2, 1815, moved to Franklin county, N. Y., with his parents in childhood and from there to Washitena county, Mich. He was married in Kalamazoo in 1836 to Miss Lucena Harris, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. James Harris. While there he was appointed blacksmith and mechanic to the Indian department of Lake Superior in 1840 with headquarters in L'Anse under Robert Stewart, Indian agent. Accompanied by his wife and family and his brother, A. W. Brockway, he proceeded to the then almost unknown wilderness of Lake Superior.

Arriving at the Sault Portage June 19, 1843, they were obliged to wait there six weeks and three days for a vessel to take them to L'Anse. It was August 4 that they got off on the old brig, John Jacob Astor, later wrecked in front of his home at Copper Harbor. He remained in L'Anse for three years devoted to the peculiar duties of his office.

Finally, upon hearing of Copper Harbor and the rich copper discoveries, he set out on May 1, 1846, for Copper Harbor in a small row boat with his wife and three children, their crew consisting of two Indians. They camped the first night on the shore, then rounded Keweenaw point on the second day, camped at Horseshoe Harbor, and reached Copper Harbor on the third day. The few inhabitants at Copper Harbor at this time were living in tents along the shore. Mr. Brockway had come to stay, so he built the first house in Copper Harbor and opened it as a hotel.

He remained there until 1861, when he moved to Eagle River and kept the Phoenix hotel until 1863. He then decided to return to Copper Harbor and engage in the mercantile business with G. W. Perry, a son-in-law. He later operated a store at the Cliff Mine with his son, Albert A., under the name of D. D. Brockway & Son, dealers in general merchandise. Later his son was treasurer of Keweenaw county.

One of his daughters was the first white child born at Copper Harbor. In 1879, Mr. Brockway left for the Black Hills country in search of gold. Returning in December, while crossing the plains, he and his party were overtaken with a fearful storm and, with seven other passengers, he narrowly escaped freezing to death. The stage coach tipped over in the storm and they had to remain on the open desert for 15 hours, with the mercury at 42 degrees below zero.

Such were the hardships of the early pioneer. Mr. Brockway's

CHICAGO GRAIN
Chicago, June 4 (AP)—All grains were strong in grain futures trading at the Board of Trade today. Wheat, corn and rye advanced the permissible 5 cents on opening bids in old deliveries, without any sales being made. Old delivery barley advanced 4 cents to the ceiling.

The changing quotations left wheat within 3 cents of the new ceiling for old deliveries and old corn within 15 cents of the present top limit. All deliveries of rye and barley reached their ceiling in today's trading. Oats were in demand during the greater part of the session with active commission house trade supported by local buyers. Some of the day's advance was attributed to short covering.

One factor in today's advance is the opinion, shared by many traders, that all futures may be released from price control. Traders heard reports that Senator Elmer Thomas (D-Okla.), chairman of the Senate agriculture committee, claims to have sufficient votes to remove basic farm commodities from price control.

At the finish wheat was unchanged to 5 cents higher than yesterday's close, August (new) $1.96; July (old) $1.93. Corn was unchanged to 5 cents higher, January (new) $1.46; July (old) $1.43. Rye was unchanged to 5 cents higher, November (new) $1.58; July (old) $1.58. Barley was unchanged to 4 cents higher, March (new) $1.35; July (old) $1.35. Oats were 3/4 to 1 1/4 higher, August (new) 84 1/2 to 84 5/8; July (old) 87 1/2.

Excellent harvesting weather was reported over the winter grain area, while clear cool weather prevailed over the spring wheat sections. There was no report of frost damage from last weekend's chill weather.

Broomhall, British grain authority, said prospects are that France may produce 75,000,000 bushels more wheat than last year; that Italian prospects for 50,000,000 bushels better than the previous year and that North Africa is expected to have a surplus for shipping.

"Club 314" Chosen As Name For City Youth Center Here

The city's youth center will be known in the future as "Club 314", the center's planning committee decided at a meeting Monday.

A number of names were considered but because of the center's location at Third Avenue and 14th street and because of the "distinctive" flavor of the name, "Club 314" was selected.

Six St. Joseph and six Escanaba high school students were named student chairmen of the following administrative groups for the center at the planning committee session: constitution and by-laws, Bob O'Donnell and Rosella Goulet; house, Dorance Peterson and Valerie Spade; rules and regulations, Carl Fassbender, and Lois Hermes; finance, Lois Noel and John Stropich; entertainment, Helen Anderson and Don Ohman; publicity, John McCarthy and Pat Rivard.

Five other individuals will work with the co-chairmen on each committee. These groups will meet within the next few weeks to work out administrative policies of the new youth center.

Peterson's Ointment is marvelous." 35c a box, all drugstores. 60c in tube with applicator. Money back if not delighted.

A party line also gives you a chance to be a GOOD NEIGHBOR!

By treating others on the line as they themselves would like to be treated, good party line neighbors help to improve their own service and that of all the people who share it.

A good party line neighbor thinks of it this way:

"Someone else on my line may be waiting to make a call, so I won't talk any longer than I have to.

"When the line is in use, I won't interrupt.

"And when I finish a call, I'll hang up carefully because one instrument off the hook puts all the telephones on the line out of service."
